10 Ways People of Faith Can Help End Hunger and Mass Incarceration During Elections

1. Develop an “elevator speech” explaining why ending mass incarceration is important to you as a Christian.
2. Register to vote.
3. Write a letter to your local newspaper saying that ending hunger and mass incarceration is a priority for you as a voter.
4. Learn what the candidates are saying about ending hunger and mass incarceration.
5. Speak at candidates’ town hall meetings about the importance of ending hunger and mass incarceration.
6. Engage your friends. Make sure they are registered to vote and know what the candidates are saying about ending hunger and mass incarceration.
7. Magnify your voice by combining it with those of thousands of other Christians. Become a member of Bread for the World. Hold an Offering of Letters.
8. Engage your church/campus.
9. Give money and volunteer time to candidates who are committed to ending hunger and mass incarceration.
10. VOTE for candidates who are committed to ending hunger and mass incarceration.
